

Robby Kreiger House: $6.19 Million Bel-Air Home Originally Built For Doors Guitarist

First Posted: 06-23-10 11:31 AM | Updated: 06-23-10 01:28 PM

Read More: Bel Air Real Estate, Bel-Air-Mansions, La Real Estate, Los Angeles Real Estate, Los-Angeles-Real-Estate, Real Estate, Slidepollajax, Los Angeles News

The Bel-Air home that was originally built for Doors guitarist Robby Kreiger is on the market today for $6.19 million (listing here at Rodeo Realty). The home was designed in a blend of John Lautner and Frank Lloyd Wright architectural styles, wrapping around a pool and patio area in the middle of the property. Before its current owner, the house also belonged to Limp Bizkit's Fred Durst. Check out our earlier slideshow of Doors frontman Jim Morrison's 'House On Love Street.'